

World Class Manufacturing
Comes to Southern California

At over 110,000 square feet, our new facility is one of the largest pet jerky production facilities in the United States. We have leveraged our years of manufacturing experience to identify the latest technologies that allow us to gain efficiencies and consistencies in every area of production – safety and quality first! Our goal was not to just be able to say “made in the USA” on our bag, but to make the best real meat products, using the best possible ingredients, from the best facility in the world.
